West Sac tries again for riverfront hotel

Public would own the conference center portion of a proposed 300-room Marriott in the Bridge District

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

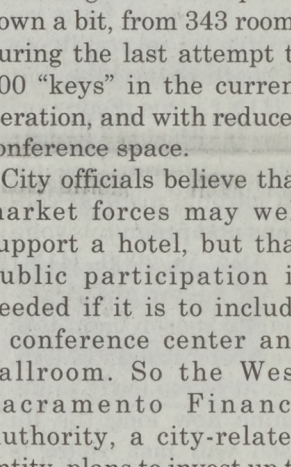
West Sacramento officials will try, with at least their third serious effort, to bring a Marriott Hotel to the city riverfront. They envision a project complete with conference center and other amenities.

Last Wednesday, the city council approved an "exclusive negotiation agreement" with Portman Holdings, an Atlanta-based developer whose projects include a Marriott at Union Square in San Francisco and a project in Shanghai, for a possible development deal.

The new hotel is still slated for a three-acre spot near Raley Field, on land now under negotiation. The design has been pared down a bit, from 343 rooms during the last attempt to 300 "keys" in the current iteration, and with reduced conference space.

City officials believe that market forces may well support a hotel, but that public participation is needed if it is to include a conference center and ballroom. So the West Sacramento Finance Authority, a city-related entity, plans to invest up to $28 million to build and own the conference center in of the project.

Portman Holdings, LLC, was chosen from among applicants responding to city outreach to a "short list" of possible hotel developers. Portman Holdings and the city have given themselves 120 days to try to hammer out a project deal. They anticipate Portman will also hammer out a deal to acquire the property from Bridge District Riverfront LLC.



Mayor Christopher Cabaldon

"The direct benefit to the City is the generation of increased property, transient occupancy and sales taxes that in the long term will fund municipal services and construction of public infrastructure," said a city staff report on the new agreement.

Only one member of the public spoke at Wednesday's meeting on the project. Jeff Lyon of the north-area Washington Neighborhood Association asked the developer to pressure the city to clean up the homeless camps along the riverfront.

"Why does the mayor welcome the homeless to illegally camp along the river?," Lyon asked from the podium. "We want to send a message loud and clear, far and wide, that our mayor is not enforcing the law."

He said the riverfront was "infested" with illegal homeless campers.

The four council members in attendance, though, focused on expressing support for the development deal.

Councilman Mark Johannessen noted that projects are percolating on both the Sacramento and West Sacramento sides of the river.

"Hopefully, the arena is going to be starting on the other side of the river," he said. "We have, hopefully, a streetcar that will be coming in a year after that. So the timing couldn't be better."

His colleague Bill Kristoff added:

"It is not just that stand-alone hotel – it's the other things that happen because of the hotel."

"It's really prime real estate," observed council member Oscar Villegas. "It's one of the best corners in the region."

And Mayor Christopher Cabaldon added that the new hotel project could serve local residents, providing a place to dine and hold weddings. Noting that the city has tried before to make the project happen, he added:

"There is no ribbon cutting yet. . . but this represents a very strong opportunity to make the hotel a reality."

All four council members voted in favor of the 120-day period for exclusive negotiations with Portman Holdings; Council Member Chris Ledesma was absent.

In other business, the council voted 4-0 to support a bill by State Senator Alex Padilla to phase out single-use plastic bags such as those offered by supermarkets. The bags are believed to be a problem for sewage systems and waterways. Padilla was on hand for the vote.

The council will hold a special strategic planning session, with a facilitator, on Monday and Tuesday at city hall. Monday's meeting begins at 9:30 a.m., and Tuesday's at 9 a.m. The meetings are public.

Veterans Day volunteers

Volunteers place live wreaths on the graves of military veterans at the Sacramento Valley National Veterans Cemetery in Dixon. Others remove the wreaths for recycling after the holiday.

This year, on Jan. 11, it was members of the Centennial Rotary Club of West Sacramento who performed cleanup duty, along with several students from the River City High School Interact Club.

Marijuana growing legal, within limits

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

The West Sacramento City Council voted 4-0 last week to allow cultivation of marijuana within city limits – but only in certain places, by certain people and in limited spaces.

Marijuana cultivation remains illegal under federal law.

The new city rules are meant to reconcile the state "Compassionate Use Act," which allows people to use marijuana for medical purposes, with the rights of their neighbors. City staff say that outdoor marijuana cultivation attracts crime, for example, and generates an unwelcome odor from the plants.

In late 2012, the city placed a moratorium on outdoor cultivation of the plant.

Last week, the council approved new rules that continue to prohibit outdoor growth. The rules also require a city permit to grow marijuana. They restrict cultivation to people who live on their own residential property, allow it to be grown on up to 120 square feet of indoor space. Growing is prohibited within 600 feet of schools or child care centers.

The city planning commission recommended that distance be increased to 1,000 feet, but the city council did not adopt that recommendation. Staff said a 1,000-foot buffer "could essentially result in a de facto ban."

Those wanting to grow marijuana will have to present medical documentation to get a permit.

One member of the public spoke out against the rules, saying, "In my opinion, (marijuana) is a forerunner to something much worse. I'm against seeing it even get started in our community."

Councilman Oscar Villegas commented on the proposed rules:

"It's not as if we're acting like cowboys here. We've been very methodical and thoughtful."

Mayor Christopher Cabaldon joined council members Oscar Villegas, Mark Johannessen and Bill Kristoff in supporting the new rules. A final reading of the ordinance is scheduled for the Feb. 5 city council meeting.

Marijuana dispensaries are still outlawed in the city.

Boxer-type dog sought after bite in dog park

The Yolo County Sheriff's Department Animal Services Section is looking for a dog and its owner after a biting incident at West Sacramento's dog park.

Finding the dog can help prevent the victim from having to undergo rabies exposure treatment.

The incident happened about 11 a.m. on Jan. 10 at the Sam Combs Park's dog run. According to the Animal Services Section:

"An adult male was in the Sam Combs dog park, 205 Stone Boulevard, and was attempting to break up a dog fight that started when the dogs were playing at that location, when the victim was bitten by the dog that began fighting with (the victim's) dog."

The bite victim describes the biting dog as a medium size brown or "brindle" boxer with a "New York Giants" collar and tags. That dog's owner was described as a white male, about 5'9" tall, with a thin build. The man was wearing glasses and had a New York-type accent.

Anyone with information is asked to call (530) 668-5287, or email animal.bite@yolocounty.org.

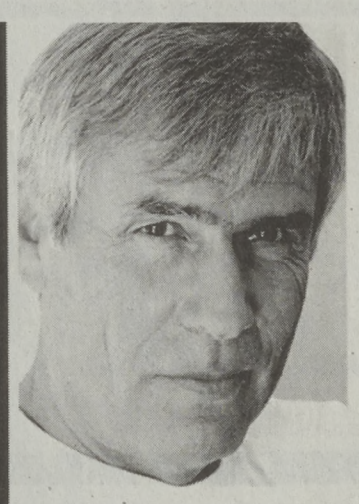
When garbage piles up in the depths of the mind

My Back Pages



By Daryl Fisher

Many years ago, I heard the legendary folk singer, Pete Seeger, sing a song of his entitled "Garbage", where he talks about how our oceans, rivers, skies, and even our minds, are filling up with "garbage, garbage, garbage". He sang about when the landfills will all be full, and when the hydrocarbon haze will be with us to stay, and about when the stocks and bonds will have all become garbage, and when there will be no money to be made, only money to be repaid. But what really stuck with me from that song was the need to protect ourselves as best we can from all the garbage that accumulates inside our heads and starts pushing aside all the good stuff, as if it needs to be center stage, instead of safely locked away in what is left of our memory banks. Anyway, for some reason, I was talking to a longtime friend of mine the other day about all this, and our conversation went a little something like this:

"You know what my head is full of that I wish wasn't in there?" my friend asked me.

"No, what?"

"Old baseball statistics."

"You mean like how many home runs Babe Ruth hit?" I asked with a smile.

"Exactly -- 714 by the way. And I also know Ty Cobb's lifetime batting average --.367, and how many strikeouts Walter Johnson had in his long career – 3,508, and how many hits Pete Rose had in his – 4,256. Thank heavens steroids came along and screwed everything up so bad that baseball statistics no longer mean a darn thing, otherwise I would probably still be filling my head with more of that kind of useless garbage. I also remember way too much stuff about old television shows from the 1950s and 1960s. Go ahead, ask me anything you want about old TV shows and I will know the answer."

"You mean old TV shows like The Beverly Hillbillies and Gilligan's Island?"

"Oh, that's just the tip of the iceberg! I'm talking The Munsters, McHale's Navy, Green Acres, Get Smart, My Three Sons, Bewitched, The Dick Van Dyke Show, The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis, Mister Ed, you name it. And don't even get me started on the westerns, like The Rifleman, Bonanza, F Troop, The Lone Ranger, Gunsmoke, Rawhide, Have Gun Will Travel, Wagon Train and Maverick."

"Wow, you must have done some serious television watching when you were young! All I really know about those shows is that they made Mister Ed talk by putting peanut butter in his mouth, and that I had a huge crush on that very pretty girl that Dobie Gillis was always after. What was her name by the way?"

"Tuesday Weld," answered my friend effortlessly, "and I think every red-blooded American teenage boy back in the 1960s had a crush on her! I know I sure did!"

As our conversation continued, I learned that my friend still watches endless reruns of his two favorite old TV shows, The Andy Griffith Show and Leave it to Beaver. And he not only knows the TV names of every cast member, but he also knows their real names, too, which he proceeded to tell me.

"Well," I finally told him, "if you know that Ellie Mae and Thelma Lou (Andy and Barney's love interests on the show) were named Elinor Donahue and Betty Lynn in real life, then you do indeed have way too much Andy Griffith Show garbage in your head!"

"So, what about your, Daryl," asked my friend. "What kind of garbage do you have locked away in your head?"

"Well," I said, "to tell you the truth, it's pretty much all garbage nowadays, but I think the worst of it has to do with old quotes and sayings. I can't even remember who most of them belong to anymore, or if I have added or detracted from some of them, but there's more of them than I care to count."

"Like what?"

"Well, let's see, like `We are all in the gutter, but at least some of us are looking up at the stars'; and `Destiny is something we've invented because we can't stand the fact that everything that happens is accidental'; and `The gods envy us because we are mortal, because any moment may be our last, and that everything is more beautiful because we are doomed'. Oh, and this one by Hemingway; `The world kills the very good and the very gentle and the very brave impartially. If you are none of these, it will kill you, too, but there will be no special hurry'."

"Wow, you really are carrying around some heavy garbage in that poor head of yours."

"I know!" I exclaimed. "Oh well, at least some of it is profound."

"Profound?" said my friend, smiling. "If you ask me, it's just depressing! Don't you have any happy garbage in your head?"

> What really stuck with me from that song was the need to protect ourselves as best we can from all the garbage that accumulates inside our heads and starts pushing aside all the good stuff, as if it needs to be center stage.

Not too late to prevent a case of the flu

From Beth Gabor
County of Yolo

With the increase in seasonal influenza (flu) activity nationwide, the Yolo County Health Department is again urging residents who have not been vaccinated this year to do so. To assist, the department will be offering a special free flu vaccine clinic on Saturday, January 25, and will be extending its regular immunization clinic on Monday, January 27 as there will be no clinic held on the Martin Luther King holiday on Monday, January 20.

So far, the predominant flu virus this season is H1N1. This is the H1N1 virus that emerged during the 2009 pandemic. Seasonal flu is responsible for severe illness and death every year, but the H1N1 virus disproportionately affects younger adults, children, people with chronic medical conditions and pregnant women. Also, in 2009, H1N1 did not follow the traditional flu season months of November through March. While it is too early to determine how long the flu season will last, there is still time for those who have not gotten their flu vaccine to do so through their healthcare provider or pharmacy, or by attending one of the Yolo County Health Department flu vaccine clinics.

The Yolo County Health Department will be providing a special free flu vaccine clinic on Saturday, January 25, 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. at Lee Middle School, located at 520 West Street in Woodland. The Health Department also provides seasonal flu vaccinations during its regularly scheduled Monday immunization clinics. The next immunization clinic will be held on January 27, with extended hours of 2:00 to 6:00 p.m. at the Health Department located at137 North Cottonwood Street in Woodland.

All vaccines offered during the regularly scheduled immunization clinics are $10, unless otherwise noted. Those unable to pay for the flu vaccine will not be turned away. No appointment is necessary; community members are seen on a first come, first served basis. With the exception of holidays (and the January 27 clinic listed above), regularly scheduled immunization clinics are held from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m. on the first Monday of the month at the Health Department in West Sacramento (500B Jefferson Boulevard) and on the second, third and fourth Mondays of the month at the Health Department in Woodland (137 N. Cottonwood Street).

"We are urging all who have not gotten vaccinated this flu season to get vaccinated," said Yolo County Health Officer Constance Caldwell, M.D. "By getting vaccinated, you will not only be protecting yourself, you will also be protecting vulnerable individuals around you."

All forms of the flu vaccine this season are designed to protect against H1N1. Flu vaccine is available for individuals 6 months and older. No needle is necessary for eligible individuals ages 2 to 49 years who qualify for Flu Mist.

In addition to getting the flu vaccine, the Yolo County Health Department recommends the following steps to prevent the flu:

- Cover your nose and mouth with a tissue or sleeve when you cough or sneeze. Throw the tissue in the trash after you use it.
- Wash your hands frequently with soap and water for at least 20 seconds or use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer.
- Minimize contact with people who are sick as much as possible and stay home when you are sick.
- Parents should ask about flu plans at their children's schools and day care centers.
- Employees should ask about work policies for telecommuting or staying home when they or a relative is sick with the flu.
- Stock extra food, water, medications, cleaning supplies and tissues to reduce the need to go out in public when taking care of a sick loved one.

Occupants of a home on the 800-block of Sacramento Avenue called police to say there was a drunk man "trying to get into their back slider and front door."

The man told police "he was there to see his girlfriend."

The residents said they weren't his girlfriend and didn't know him. He went to jail.

Jan. 19, 9:10 p.m.

Jan. 20, 11:09 p.m.

Police pulled over a car with expired registration tags at Douglas and Sacramento Avenue. A records check showed the 44-year old Woodland woman behind the wheel had three outstanding warrants. She was arrested.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The West Sacramento Police Department is undergoing a transition in its data management. Because of this, we currently have access to many of the department's arrest reports, but not to the logs of calls for service and reports of crime.

Responding to an inquiry from the News-Ledger, a spokesman said the department hopes for a solution in early 2014.

We hope to again be able to search through more material when compiling this weekly log.

Health pros grade Yolo County's public health system

In mid-November 2013, the Yolo County Health Department, through the "Healthy Yolo" campaign, conducted a work session to assess the public health system in Yolo County. Twenty-six representatives from the local public health system attended the session and scored how the local public health system was performing.

The resulting Local Public Health System Assessment report is now available for viewing at www.HealthyYolo.org.

County spokeswoman Beth Gabor warns that the ratings are subjective and "do not necessarily reflect the actual performance of the local public health system or of any individual agency or organization."

Healthy Yolo will integrate the findings from the Local Public Health System Assessment with three other community assessments to identify strategic issues and develop goals and strategies to address these issues.

The organization has also published its second quarterly newsletter to update Yolo County residents on the progress of Healthy Yolo. To view the Local Public Health System Assessment and the newsletter, or to learn more about Healthy Yolo, visit www.HealthyYolo.org, or contact Mark Harlan, Yolo County Health Program Coordinator healthyyolo@yolocounty.org or (530) 666-8638.

NOTICE OF HEARING
February 6, 2014

The West Sacramento Planning Commission will consider the following matters on Thursday, February 6, 2014, at West Sacramento Civic Center, City Council Chambers, 1110 West Capitol Avenue, West Sacramento, California, at the times as specified or as soon thereafter as the matters may be heard:

6:00 p.m.

REGULAR AGENDA

1. Zoning Administrator Approval of Planned Development 29 Minor Modification (LAFFEY)

Planned Development 29 (PD-29), commonly known as The Rivers Community, contains an antiquated provision requiring home occupation businesses to obtain a conditional use permit from the Planning Commission, a requirement found nowhere else in the City. This minor modification to the PD-29 text will change this requirement, allowing home occupation businesses to operate within the PD-29 planning area with only a City Business License, the current requirement for home occupations elsewhere in the City. This project is categorically exempt from the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) pursuant to § 15305 (minor alterations to land use limitations) of the CEQA Guidelines. APPLICANT: City of West Sacramento. OWNER: The Rivers HOA, 12009 Foundation Place, Suite 310, Gold River, CA 95670.

2. Public Workshop Regarding Summerplace Living at Westgate Assisted Living Facility (WHITE)

The applicant is seeking approval of tentative parcel map, conditional use permit and zoning administrator parking modification for a proposed assisted living facility located at 2305 Jefferson Boulevard. The project site is a triangular shaped lot and is bounded by Jefferson Boulevard to the west/northwest, by Gateway Drive to the south/southwest, and the Clarksburg Branch Line Trail and residential to the east. The project applicant proposes to subdivide approximately 6.72 acres into two lots. The assisted living facility would be developed on Parcel 1, which would be approximately 5.33 acres. Parcel 2 would be approximately 1.39 acres. No development is proposed for Parcel 2 as part of this project. The two-story assisted living facility would be approximately 141,235 square feet and consist of 94 assisted living units and 84 memory care units for a total of 178 units. The project has the capacity to serve 205 residents. The assisted living building will include 8 studio units, 88 one bedroom units, and 8 two bedroom units for a total of 113 assisted living residents. The memory care building will include 18 private units, 20 shared units (2 units share 1 bathroom), and 8 double units, for a total of 92 Memory Care residents. APPLICANT: FCM Capital Partners, 2400 Professional Drive, Suite 150, Roseville, CA 95661. OWNER: Lighthouse Cove, LLC, 110 110th Avenue, #550, Bellevue, WA 98004.

David Tilley, Secretary
West Sacramento Planning Commission

If you disagree with the decision of the planning commission, you have a right of appeal. Only persons who participated in the review process by submitting written testimony or oral testimony at the public hearing, may appeal. Appeals are limited to those issues raised at the planning commission meeting. If you challenge any of the above items in court, you may be limited to raising only those issues you or someone else raised at the public hearing described in this notice, or in written correspondence delivered to the City of West Sacramento at, or prior to, the public hearing.

PICKS OF THE WEEK

"The Dallas Buyer's Club" (R) -- Matthew McConaughey delivers a career-altering performance as a hard-partying cowboy who became a hero to many people only after he was told he had 30 days to live. Ron Woodroof (McConaughey) was diagnosed with HIV in the early 1980s, when little was known about the virus and many promising treatments were not available in the U.S. Ron sets about smuggling medicine into Texas for the benefit of himself and the HIV-positive population.

As Ron's character develops, there is a raw and believable change as he sympathizes with people he used to shun. The film also carries a strong contender for best supporting actor with Jared Leto as Rayon, a transsexual and fellow HIV patient who becomes Ron's friend and business partner.

"About Time" (R) -- Tim (Domhnall Gleeson) is a decent, fumbling, charming and awkward young Brit who learns on his 21st birthday that the men in his family can time travel -- only into the past and only into moments from his own life. Tim's power allows him to erase and re-do his most uncomfortable mistakes and missed opportunities. He spends the rest of his (screen) time keeping his girl and staving off life's tragedies.

Matthew McConaughey in "The Dallas Buyer's Club"

Written and directed by Richard Curtis (veteran of a thousand English romantic comedies, including "Love, Actually" and "Four Weddings and a Funeral", the movie deviates just a little while still showing the Curtis stamp. It's painfully cute, full to the brim with sentiments and a little clumsy while advancing the plot. It's an easy watch, and sure to have a few laughs for even the most cynical viewers.

"Free Birds" (PG) -- This is the big, animated, star-studded, 3D Thanksgiving movie about turkeys using a time machine to go to the first Thanksgiving and prevent turkey from ever being part of the tradition. Though it's stuffed with sight gags and goofy sidekicks, it's just never very funny. The way factory farms and turkey hunts are depicted can be pretty scary for the young ones. If you want your child to be a vegetarian, there must be a kinder way than making him or her sit through this.

DOG OF THE WEEK

"Baggage Claim" (PG-13) -- There are romantic comedies that are cloying and gushy, or too serious and heavy. And all romantic comedies are pretty predictable -- it just runs in the genre. However, some romantic comedies are so atrocious that they may actually intend to harm us with bizarre messages about love. In "Baggage Claim," a flight attendant needs a man in 30 days (just because), so she arranges to be on a plane whenever one of her exes travels (sheÕs apparently involved with TSA and NSA on this one) in the vain hope of rekindling a romance.

"In Meat We Trust: An Unexpected History of Carnivore America"
by Maureen Ogle
(Houghton Mifflin Harcourt, $28)
Reviewed by Larry Cox

The battle surrounding meat and livestock production ranks among the longest-waged and hardest-fought in American history. It is a debate that dates back even to the Colonial era. For her new book, Iowa-based author and historian Maureen Ogle sifted through more than 200 years of government documents, agriculture trade magazines, newspapers and personal accounts to serve up an unbiased look at how the American meat industry was shaped, by whom and to what end.

Ogle believes that meat and its consumption help define us as Americans, and she began her research guided by two main goals: to educate herself about livestock production and meat processing, two of this country's biggest industries, and to pass along what she learned so that we would better understand how meat gets to our plates.

Her research provided some surprising and, yes, shocking facts. One of her more startling findings concerned manure lagoons. As a way of cutting production costs, livestock producers began constructing and maintaining what amounts to open sewage tanks. Even though these lagoons have become rather common, few people -- including farmers, public health officials and even engineers -- understand the long-term consequences of these storage areas, especially when catastrophic flooding occurs.

"In Meat We Trust" overturns many of our widely held assumptions about meat and meat production in America. For example, chicken, so popular today, was rare in urban American kitchens until the mid-20th century. And confinement livestock systems were born on the family farm; corporate producers did not adopt the practice until the 1970s.

"In Meat We Trust" addresses many of the big questions concerning our carnivorous future. As Ogle writes, "We won't transform our meat culture by taming Big Food or replacing Big Ag with a locavore-centered, alternative food system, but by examining our sense of 'meat entitlement' and the way it contributes to the high cost of cheap living."

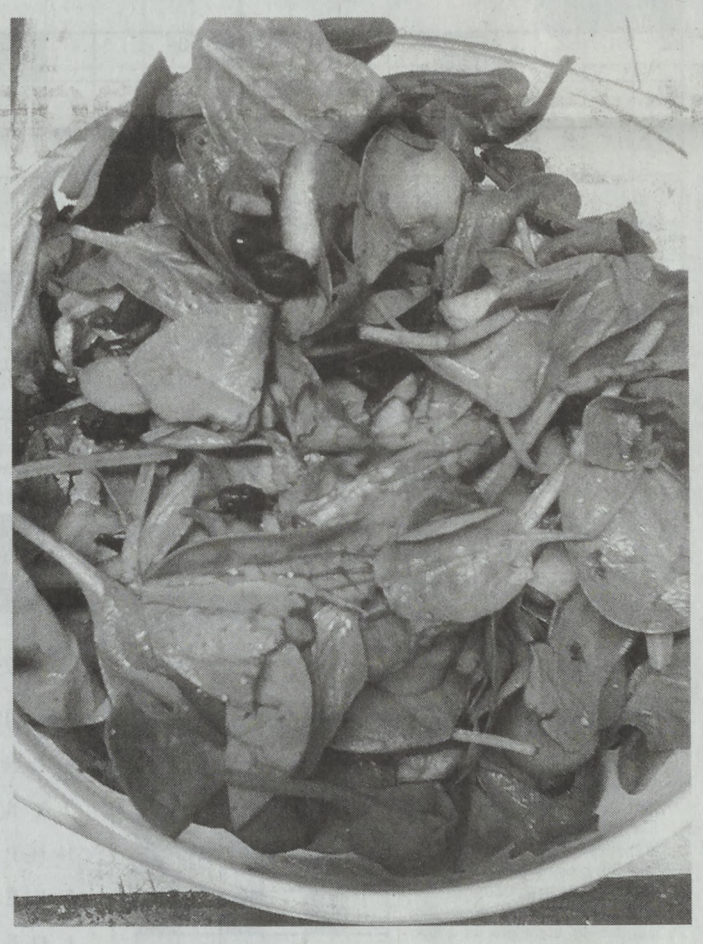
Eat Healthy All Day



The basis for a healthy eating plan should be fruits and vegetables; whole grains; low-fat or fat-free milk products; lean meats, poultry, fish; and beans, lentils and other legumes. Some foods stand out as superstars with many nutrients to enhance health and prevent disease. Here are some smart food choices to make every day.

¥ Oats: A bowl of oatmeal is a great start to the day. Oatmeal provides soluble fiber, which can help lower blood cholesterol. This whole grain provides protein for muscle recovery and repair, and contains some antioxidants, which may have cardiovascular benefits. Try adding oats to some of your recipes including casseroles, meatloaf, muffins, breads and cookies.

¥ Blueberries: This tasty fruit contains fiber and vitamin C, which is an antioxidant that aids in disease prevention, helps maintain bones and teeth, and helps the body absorb iron. Blueberries contain antioxidants called anthocyanidins, which give them their blue-red color. These antioxidants appear to help neutralize damage to cells that can lead to many negative health conditions and diseases. Blueberries also may play a role in brain health. Buy frozen blueberries when they are not in season and add them to cereal, desserts or oatmeal.

¥ Yogurt: Low-fat or fat-free yogurt can serve as a snack or even as part of dessert. Yogurt has live cultures and good bacteria that may promote health, boost immunity and increase bone health. Some of the nutrients in yogurt include calcium and potassium, which are important for good bone health. Plus, yogurt contains protein, which helps you stay full longer. Top yogurt with blueberries and walnuts for a nutritious snack or breakfast. Yogurt also can serve as the base for creamy dips or dressings.

¥ Black beans: All beans can promote health, but black beans contain anthocyanidins, the same antioxidant in blueberries. Black beans contain soluble fiber, which can help lower cholesterol. Beans contain protein as well, making them a good substitute for other protein foods that may be high in fat. Beans also are low in calories, low in fat and inexpensive.

¥ Walnuts: These nuts contain the most omega-3 fatty acids of all the tree nuts and peanuts. Omega-3 fatty acids help boost cardiovascular health, help decrease inflammation related to diseases and might improve cognitive function. Walnuts also have monounsaturated fat, a heart-healthy fat that can help lower cholesterol.

¥ Tomatoes: Fresh tomatoes may not be available year-round, but processed tomato products such as stewed tomatoes, tomato sauce and tomato juice can be found any time of year. The red color of tomatoes comes from lycopene, a phytochemical that the body absorbs better from processed tomato products. Lycopene can help prevent prostate cancer and might improve bone health. Tomatoes also contain vitamins A and C, both of which are antioxidants.

¥ Carrots: Bugs Bunny probably has great eyesight, thanks to the beta carotene that gives carrots their orange color. Beta carotene helps protect against some cancers and cardiovascular (heart) disease. This compound also can help protect your lungs, especially if you smoke. In addition, carrots contain vitamin C, vitamin K, fiber and potassium.

¥ Spinach: We all know that spinach makes Popeye stronger, probably because this dark green veggie is full of vital nutrients. Spinach provides us with vitamin K to help with blood clotting. It also contains vitamin A for healthy skin and vision, folate for red blood cell formation and proper cell division, and iron for oxygen transport within the body. Spinach also contains some calcium, potassium (which can help lower blood pressure) and fiber.

It's easy to add all of these foods to your daily diet by having oatmeal topped with blueberries for breakfast, and my recipe for Power-Packed Spinach Salad with Greek Yogurt Dressing for lunch or dinner. The black beans act as a protein in this delicious salad. You also can top the salad with an additional protein such as lean chicken or beef, turkey, fish or tofu, for a heartier meal. Add these foods to your menu and enjoy the many health benefits from these nutritional all-stars!

POWER-PACKED SPINACH SALAD

4 ounces (2/3 of 6 ounce carton) plain Greek yogurt
1 1/2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 1/2 teaspoons fresh or dried chopped mint, basil or parsley
3/4 teaspoons honey or agave syrup
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon black pepper
5 cups baby spinach
1 (15-ounce) can black beans, drained and rinsed
4 ounces feta cheese, crumbled
12 grape or cherry tomatoes, halved
1/4 small red onion, thinly sliced
1/2 cup shredded carrots
10 walnut halves, toasted

In a small bowl combine yogurt, lemon juice, herbs, honey or agave syrup, salt and pepper and mix well. In a large bowl, combine spinach, black beans, cheese, tomatoes, onions, carrots and walnuts. Pour desired amount of dressing over salad and toss until well-combined. Serves 4.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS

The Sacramento river registered 4 feet 6 inches, United States gauge at the Southern Pacific bridge yesterday.

Melville F. Doyle, familiarly known as Mike Doyle, part owner of the Washington Service Station on Fifth, near Anne street, was a visitor in Sutter Basin yesterday to acquire more equipment in order to be able to serve his customers all the better. Doyle and Frazer, partners in the service station, have built up a wonderful business since they opened there less than a year ago, and from present appearances it would seem that a great increase is due in the future.

Seth Barry, Jr., four-year-old son of Seth Barry, was extremely sick on New Year's eve and was placed under the care of a physician. Yesterday his condition was greatly improved with the expectation that he will be about in a few days.

On New Year's eve the Washington volunteer fire department enjoyed a very pleasant time at the town hall. A goose stew had been prepared by some of the boys and others secured music to pass the weary hours. A little hilarity was indulged in, after which many of those present started to sing their favorite songs and dance their favorite steps. Indeed there was no limit to the good time the young men had and they enjoyed themselves so thoroughly that not a single member of the fire department was absent during the entire evening. Not one of the young men went to Sacramento to take care of the bathing beauties or the filtration plant, although some were desirous of seeing the shapely graces of the pond girls in the Capital City. The fire trustees were mostly responsible for this splendid good time and are encouraging the young men of the department to spend their time more at home than in the purlieus of the wicked in Sacramento.

The Washington Star Club held its regular meeting last Wednesday evening in the Westminster Church in Sacramento. Last Saturday night at the Y. M. C. A. building the boys of the club defeated the boys of the Calvary Baptist Church of Sacramento in a basketball game by a score of 27 to 7. The club now has a chance to get second place in the basketball league of Sacramento. Next Saturday night they will play another game at the Y. M. C. A. when they will compete with the boys of the Bethlehem Sunday school.

C. E. Leinberger and two daughters and one grandson with Gus Goldberg were the New Year visitors at the home of Supervisor Leinberger. A great feast was procured for the occasion and those partaking of it voted the supervisor a splendid good fellow.

On Christmas morning P. A. Hart and Ernest Kleffman came together in the barber shop on Anne street, that promised for a few minutes to be mighty detrimental to the barber shop. It seems that on Christmas eve Kleffman was feeling pretty good, kinda soft, whether from anticipated enjoyment over the holiday or whether from some other cause, and in his hilarity passed some remarks that Hart considered very applicable to himself and very deleterious to his good standing in the community. At any rate Hart had the good sense to run away from Kleffman on Christmas eve, but it was different on Christmas morning. Then it was that Hart brought to Kleffman's mind what he had said the previous night and asked for a retraction. This Kleffman refused, with the result that a few blows were landed which had a telling effect on Kleffman. At any rate no blood was lost but there were no pyrotechnics following a few smashes. The affair wound up amicably, especially on account of the admonition that Jack Reuther offered, when he reminded them that it was the day of "Peace on earth to men of good will."

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Moser are entertaining as their house guests Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Putnam and family of the state of Washington, who are here on a brief sojourn en route to Pasadena, where they will remain for an indefinite period. Moser is a nephew of Mrs. Putnam.

Miss Pearl Moser, who has been spending the past few days in Washington as the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Moser, returned to San Francisco to resume her duties as a student nurse of the San Francisco County Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Bennett have removed from Washington to Colonial Heights, where they expect to remain permanently.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence House and son, who have been visiting in Washington for the past few days, returned to their home in Fresno.

SACRAMENTO DOPE FIENDS CROSS RIVER WHEN TOLD TO GET OUT OF TOWN AND BECOME A NUISANCE AT THIS SIDE OF THE STREAM

From week to week this paper has been publishing stories of dope fiends that are being arrested at this side of the river by Constable Buckingham and Roy Jones of the State Pharmacy board.

These stories become very wearisome to the writer but they are a great deal more wearisome to the constable who is forced to make arrests and the State Pharmacy Enforcement officer who must try to keep track of dope peddlers.

Dope fiends are being arrested in Sacramento every day and when hailed before the township justice are either sent to jail fined, or are told to get out of town.

The Sacramento County jail is over crowded at the present time, so much so that Sheriff Jones cannot accommodate any more prisoners and the result is that the major portion of dope fiends are ordered out of town under suspended sentence.

The Woodland county jail is overcrowded at the present time and mostly by prisoners that are sent from this section of the county after being placed under arrest by Constable Buckingham and Roy Jones but all of these have been driven out of Sacramento under the penalty of suspended sentences administered by the Sacramento justice court.

These drug addicts will steal, lie, swear, cheat or commit murder to secure money with which to buy narcotics. To any community they are an eternal nuisance and really they are to be pitied because of the great suffering they undergo when deprived of their favorite dose of stimulant.

Most of them are victims of prohibition. Most of them formerly indulged in periodical sprees but now being deprived of the harmless whiskey they formerly used they resort to the use of drugs and narcotics, the worst habit that could ever be cultivated in the mind or the soul or the body of a human being.

Were Constable Buckingham of the mind to crowd the Yolo county jail so that standing room would be at a premium he could easily do so but he is of the impression that it is far better to let the ordinary consumer of narcotics go and arrest only those who peddle drugs to make money.

As a consequence there are many users that could be sentenced under the Harrison law to jail terms but who are still wandering around in the hope that when they can secure their narcotics no more from peddlers they may become of the mind to reform.

Few however, have been reformed for the peddler makes it his point to see that every consumer is fed just enough to keep him from suffering greatly and just enough to keep him craving for more drugs.

This is a terrible and a detrimental condition but yet there is no remedy and there will be no remedy until the Volstead law is amended.

New Year's eve, December 31st George Green and William Graham arrested by Buckingham and Jones were sentenced to ninety days by Judge Barry in the Yolo county jail on a charge of vagrancy.

A. E. Birdsel arrested last Monday for having morphine in his possession has not yet had his preliminary trial. He has served time previously in Sacramento and under the charge of possession of morphine in this instance he stands charged with a felony.

On the same day five others were arrested under the charge of vagrancy, Gus Stanfield, Ed Kelly, Dinty O'Neall, C. Thompson and B. Gallagher. These were sentenced to one hundred and eighty days in jail by Judge Barry, but the sentence was suspended to give them time to get out of town. They were all drug addicts and had been unloaded on this community by the police authorities of Sacramento.

A. G. Anderson was arrested on the same day on the charge of possession of morphine. Previously he had spent six months in the Sacramento county jail so that he too may be indicted on a felony charge. In order not to crowd the Yolo county jail Judge Barry suspended his sentence after he promised to leave town within a half hour.

TRIAL FRIDAY FOR DISTURBER OF NEW YEAR'S EVE HOME PREMISES

At the home of Louis Gomez on Anne street on New Year's eve, Pedro Silva a Mexican and a friend of his kicked up such a rumpus that Constable Buckingham was called to quell a near riot.

On the arrival of the constable, Pedro drew a knife and were it not that the other persons in the house at the time warned the constable the result might have been disastrous.

Pedro had imbibed a load of vicious stuff in Sacramento before crossing the bridge. As time wore on instead of quieting down he became more hilarious with the result that it became necessary for the Gomez family to call the constable. Pedro gave bail for his appearance on Friday evening to stand trial for disturbing the peace.

MRS. ROSETTA WILL BE WELL CARED FOR UNDER COURT RULING

Last Wednesday Mrs. H. Rosetta who had been making her home next to the Washington Meat market for several months and who had been twice deserted by her husband, and who is an expectant mother, will be cared for under a ruling made last Tuesday in the superior court in Woodland.

Her household goods and children with herself were moved to Roseville to the home of friends. The friend promises that she will be looked after and according to a dispatch from Woodland her husband must take ample care of her under the ruling of the court.

Woodland, Jan. 3.—Henry Rosetta, sentenced to serve 18 months in the county jail here by superior Judge W. A. Anderson for deserting his wife and babe was paroled yesterday upon placing $200 for the care of his wife, soon to become a mother, and agreeing to rigorous probation rules, fixed by the court and probation officer, A. A. Powers. Rosetta agreed to work every day at a legitimate business, to report to Powers weekly and to bank all his money in the name of his wife. The prisoner wsa photographed and Bertillian measurements taken to insure against his escape. Rosetta asked to go, remorse overtaking him, he agreed to care for his little family.

DRUG PEDDLER SENT TO SAN QUENTIN BY JUDGE ANDERSON

Woodland, Jan. 1.—Clifford L. Leos was sent to San Quentin yesterday by Superior Judge W. A. Anderson, immediately following a preliminary examination before Justice of the Peace R. W. Harrison, in which the accused drug peddler pleaded to be saved from the white monster which had its tentacles about him so that he admitted that he had no will of his own and was anxious to receive help.

Leos was arrested several days ago in Broderick by Roy Jones of the state department of pharmacy, and charged with distributing morphine, much of which was found on his person. He was a second offender, hence had no other recourse than to appear before the superior court. District Attorney George T. Kern prosecuted Leos, a Mexican of the higher type.

"I have tried hard to get away from it all," said Leos in a voluntary statement before Justice of the Peace Harrison after Jones had presented evidence showing that he was an habitual peddler and user.

The fellow came from one of the aristocratic families of his native Mexico and was brought in contact with the higher class users, so he stated, of drugs in all their varied forms. The prisoner stated that he tried hard to wean himself away from use of the deadly narcotic and tried to abide by the law, to return to his waiting home and anxious relatives, but found the task too great for his weakened will. He dreaded imprisonment in the one breath and then he greeted it in the other as a possible refuge from drugs. Sheriff J. W. Monroe will take him to San Quentin this week.

Anderson in the Sacramento police court yesterday. Colina, however, is not at liberty, but will be taken to Oakland to stand trial on three charges of vagrancy, in each of which cases she is accused of having jumped her bail bond. Thomas Anderson, her husband, was given a straight sentence of six months in jail.

VAN DEREN HAS TAKEN CHARGE OF BRODERICK POSTOFFICE

Last Tuesday, January 1st, the Broderick post office was taken over by P. O. Van Deren, who had previously received his appointment from Washington, D. C.

Although already in charge of the post office it is his intention to appear for examination at the post office in Sacramento tomorrow, Saturday.

Whether any of the other aspirants will take the examinations at the same time it is unknown, but evidently it would be fruitless, for Van Deren is already in possession of the necessary papers.

Yesterday Mrs. P. R. George, sister of Mrs. Van Deren, was in charge of the post office. To help her she had Mr. Van Deren's son and her daughter, a young lady of seventeen years.

Mrs. George has taken the oath of office as assistant postmaster before Judge Barry and that document has been forwarded to the proper authorities.

Van Deren has purchased the furniture, fixtures and stock in the post office building from the previous postmaster, J. N. Bennett. That arrangement was completed before Van Deren took charge of the business of the post office.

It is not known whether Van Deren will be personally in charge of the business of the post office or whether he will leave it entirely in the hands of his assistant, his sister-in-law.

WOODLAND HIGH SCHOOL WILL OPEN ON JANUARY 14

Woodland, Jan. 3.—Students of the Woodland high school, destroyed by fire early Monday, will resume their classes on January 14th, by which time it is expected emergency arrangements for housing them will be completed.

The city board of education has decided to partition the gymnasium and occupy two rooms of the grammar school for high school classes. Three hundred desks will be loaned by the Sacramento school department. Completion of the manual training building within the next few months will provide additional rooms for classes.

School authorities are convinced the fire was the work of the same gang believed responsible for the burning of schools at Esparto, Oakland, Alameda and Medford, Ore. As a result of the blaze, additional insurance has been taken on the grammar and primary school buildings. The board of education will recover $14,500 insurance on the high school building and $4,500 on the contents, providing adjusters decide that both are a total loss.

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call, (714)730-2727 for information regarding the trustee's sale or visit this Internet Web site, https://www.lpsasap.com/, for information regarding the sale of this property, using the file number assigned to this case, T.S.# 9551-1161. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. If the Trustee is unable to convey title for any reason, the successful bidder's sole and exclusive remedy shall be the return of monies paid to the Trustee and the successful bidder shall have no further recourse.
